i) Definitions

- a. Monetary Donations - Any money, including cash, checks, gift cards, or personal money orders from candidates, parties, campaign members, or other contributors intended to promote a particular candidate or party shall be designated as "Monetary Donations."
  - (i) Monetary donations can never be accepted from any of the following, although not limited to these: an outside organization, special interest group, and/or student organization outside of SGA.
    - (a) Special interest group is defined as a group of people or an organization seeking or receiving special advantages, typically through political lobbying.
  - (ii) Accepting monetary donations from an outside special interest group or student organizations other than the Student Government Association may result in disqualification.

  - (i) Non-monetary donations can never be accepted from any special interest group.
    - (a) Accepting non-monetary donations from a special interest group may result in disqualification.

    - (a) This includes any materials given to a candidate or party that they did not purchase.
  - (iii) Any discount that amounts to over an 80% reduction of an item's retail price are considered non-monetary donations. As such, they should be recorded with the value of the original retail price.
  - (iv) Any discount that amounts to less than an 80% reduction of an item's retail price is considered a monetary expense. As such, they should be recorded with the money the candidate paid for the item, strictly.
  - (v) Any materials previously owned by a campaign member is not a donation. As long as it is not distributed to potential voters, it does not need to be reported (e.g., grills, tents, tables, and other items of that nature).
  - (vi) Any donation from an immediate family member or household member of any candidate or campaign member shall be considered a monetary donation, regardless of if it could be classified as a non-monetary donation.
  - (vii) The Election Commission strongly encourages the use of non-monetary donations, to relieve the financial burden of candidates to use money to obtain materials for their campaign, such as food, shirts, etc.
- c. Campaign Expenditures - Any monetary expense or non-monetary donation accepted and used to promote a campaign or independent candidate.
- (i) All campaign expenditures must be reported on Campaign Value Reports.
  - (ii) All Campaign Value Reports must be published on the SGA website by the Election Commission within 12 hours of receipt.
- d. Total Operating Budget - All monetary expenses and non-monetary donations count towards the total budget. Monetary expenses plus the amount of non-monetary donations shall not exceed the spending limit outlined below.

  - (ii) Failure by a party or independent candidate to submit a complete Campaign Value Report (CVR) by the specified deadlines or failure to adhere to the spending limits will result in a violation of the Election Rules and Procedures. Intentionally falsifying the nature of a donation or expenditure may result in disqualification from the campaign.
- e. SGA Supplemental Funding - Campaigns and independent candidates are allowed to request funds from SGA for use during their campaign.
- (i) Parties and independent candidates may request up to 50% or $500, whichever is less, of their monetary portion of their total budget as Supplemental Funding.

  - (iii) To receive supplemental funds, parties and independent candidates must complete a purchase request that includes the name of the party or independent candidate, first and last name of the executive treasurer and student body president candidates' names, item(s) for purchase, estimated cost, and applicable vendors.
  - (iv) Supplemented purchases must be reported on a party or candidate's appropriate Campaign Value Report (CVR) within the time period purchased.

iii) Proper Reporting of all Non-Monetary Donations and Expenditures:

- a. All independent candidates and parties shall submit a complete series of formal documents known as the Campaign Value Reports (CVR) in which parties and independent candidates report current expenditures-- this includes monetary expenses and non-monetary donations.
  - (i) All receipts of expenses, statements for non-monetary donations, and other documentation should be recorded in chronological order and assigned an item number that corresponds with the appropriate CVR.
  - (ii) Every candidate for office must commit to the spending limit by signing Appendix F that is due by 11:59 PM EST on Friday, February 28, 2022.
  - (iii) Already reported expenditures do not need to be repeated on subsequent CVR's. See example CVR.
  - (iv) Each CVR will be thoroughly checked and verified by the Election Commission with appropriate measures to maintain the integrity of the financial reporting process.
  - (v) Basic office supplies, such as pens and notebooks, do not have to be listed in the CVRs. CVRs should, however, include items bought in bulk such as reams of paper, tape (of all kinds), etc.

  - (ii) Whether or not said violation could have materially changed the outcome of the election.
